My relationship to industrial area issues
Mon lien avec les sujets autour des zones industrielles

I have contributed to environmental policies and projects for industrial parks in the Netherlands and have given presentations on the matter in relation to environmentally-conscious and efficient spatial planning. In my former duties as a climate change negotiator on behalf of the Netherlands and the European Union, I was involved in the creation of the Technology Mechanism under the UNFCCC, which could be used by industrial parks to improve their climate change performance and reduce operation costs.

My relationship to sustainability topics
Mon lien avec les sujets autour la durabilité

Driven by my passion to contribute to an accelerated shift of the global economy to more sustainable patterns for production and consumption, I specialized through a combination of studies in Environmental Economics and sought professional realization in areas related to advancing sustainable development. Amongst others, I was responsible for the first sustainable public procurement policy in the Netherlands and coordinated the Netherlands contribution to the European Sustainable Development Strategy and the sustainable development impact of climate change activities. In the UNFCCC secretariat, I coordinated the support of the intergovernmental negotiations of the Sustainable Development Mechanisms programme and facilitated the negotiations on new mechanisms.
